

STUDENT BANK PROVES SUCCESS IN SCHOOLS

Grover Cleveland Children Deposit $165.23 in Four Months.

With the opening of the 1917-18 school year next fall, student banks will probably be established in a number of the District's public schools as the result of a banking experiment which has been conducted at the Grover Cleveland School during the past four months.

The banking idea in the schools is the outgrowth of the success of the Business High School student bank, started a year or so ago. Its success was so flattering that Superintendent of Schools Thurston, on December 1, 1916, started a school bank at the Cleveland School.

Miss Sophie E. Kent, principal of the Cleveland institution, outlined to a Herald reporter yesterday what practically amounts to the first annual statement of that school's bank. It shows total deposits of $165.23 since December 1, with at least three "honor" pupils whose savings have totaled more than $20 in the four months of December, January, February and March. These three honor pupils are Anthony Cavalier, Carl Denison and Sarah Wladowsky. Anthony lives at 1717 Seventh street northwest, Carl at 1902 Ninth street and Sarah at 1713 Seventh street.

Liberal Patronized

There is one grade in the Cleveland School—the seventh—which shows a depositing record of 100 per cent, in other words, every pupil in the class is a depositor.

The banking system adopted for the school bank is this:

Deposits must be in multiples of 5 cents and each deposit is punched on a card kept by the pupil and also on a card kept by the teacher. When these deposit cards record $1, the pupil is issued a draft on a Seventh street savings bank by the officials of the Business High School bank, where the children's deposits are kept, pending the time they amount to $1. When the deposits have reached the dollar stage, the pupil is given his draft and with it opens an account in the savings bank on Seventh street. The metal slot bank system is used, with the key held by the bank cashier.

Up to date, the children of the Grover Cleveland School have deposited $143.83 in the Seventh street bank and they have an additional $140 in the Business High School bank.

Miss A. E. Haslup, faculty adviser of the Cleveland School, points out that 50.3 per cent of all the children enrolled there have begun accounts.

"In view of the high cost of living and the financial difficulties under which the children of the school labor," she said, "I consider the record they have made little short of remarkable. These deposits represent, almost entirely, the earnings of the pupils themselves."

U. S. WANTS STENOGRAPHERS.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces that owing to the present emergency examinations for stenographers and typewriters will be held at Washington, D. C., Baltimore, Md., and Alexandria and Richmond, Va., and numerous other cities throughout the United States, on April 10 and on each Tuesday thereafter until further notice. Men and women will be admitted.

Baker Gives Mayberry Place for His Hanging

Edward Mayberry, the Indian murderer, who has encountered so much difficulty in finding a place to be hanged, yesterday was accommodated by Secretary of War Baker. Mayberry was sentenced to be hanged at Spokane, Wash. Washington State laws forbid capital punishment so Mayberry, a Federal convict, was taken to the Spokane Military Reservation. The commandant refused to permit a hanging there. Then the United States Marshal at Spokane sought permission of the Treasury Department to hang Mayberry on the roof of the Spokane Federal Building. This Secretary McAdoo refused.

Application was made for commutation of Mayberry's sentence, but this has been refused by President Wilson and today Secretary of War Baker ordered that Mayberry be hanged on a military reservation. The reservation has not yet been decided upon. The death sentence is for April 19.

SUFFRAGE IN EXCHANGE FOR WAR SERVICE ASKED

Women Want Vote as Protection Against Exploitation.

The National American Woman Suffrage Association last night announced that it would demand the passage of the Federal suffrage amendment as a war measure.

A ringing call, declared to be doubly imperative to suffragists, was issued by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the association, "to make the most stupendous appeal to Congress yet made for the immediate submission of the Federal amendment."

Mrs. Catt said: "It is known in advance that women will bear as heavy a burden as will the men in the event of war. Therefore, let them be equipped at once with the same rights as men in determining the methods of that undertaking. Thousands of women will be rushed into industry without experience and without men's means of protection against their own exploitation. So women should be given this protection without further delay."

"In view of the fact that Canada has enfranchised the women of three-fourths of its provinces within a year; that the British government, led by Premier Lloyd George and former Premier Asquith, has given public assurance in the House of Commons that they will give the vote to British women; that two of the three parties in Russia have promised the vote to women under the new government and that votes for women are being discussed along with proposed widening of the franchise for men in Germany, it behooves this country of ours to awake."

The Bureau of Standards has found that better glass melting pots can be made of clays found in the United States than of clays imported from Germany, heretofore considered necessary.

PACIFISTS SCATTERING BEFORE STORM OF WAR

Efforts to Gain the Ears of Solons Fall Flat.

Pacifists are in the last trenches at Capitol Hill, with every indication that before midnight tonight their cause will have been dealt the knock-out blow by a formal declaration of war by Congress.

The pacifists, while opposed to armed warfare, are experts at waging verbal warfare. Attacks of this latter nature were made upon members of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House yesterday, but they fell upon members firm in their determination to support the President. They flatly refused to give Dr. David S. Jordan and his associates a public hearing.

Rebuffed by the House committee, many of the constantly dwindling band of pacifists hastened to the Senate side of the Capitol, where the war debate was in final swing. Only a few managed to get into the reserved galleries and Senators refused to leave the floor or the cloakrooms to listen to their appeals.

The farewell meeting of the pacifists in Washington was held at 511 E street northwest, under auspices of J. Eads How, of St. Louis, "millionaire hobo."

Registration headquarters of the pacifists, at 1227 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, were closed yesterday without any formal obsequies. Alexander Bannwart, the militant peace advocate who swapped punches with Senator Lodge was given a chilly reception at the peace movement headquarters.

Nutshell News

Tulips are now blooming on the lawns of the Executive Mansion. Last fall Mrs. Wilson planted the bulbs, firm in her belief that they would be in the White House this spring to enjoy them.

Rosa E. Faunroy yesterday instituted in the District Supreme Court through Attorney L. M. King a suit for absolute divorce from her husband, Hartwell Faunroy. Mrs. Faunroy, in her bill, sets "serious and excessive" domestic troubles she has been separated from her husband more than ten years. She asks for the custody of her two minor children and the privilege of resuming her maiden name, Rosa E. Butler.

The application of Joseph Schiold for a barroom license at 1231 Wisconsin avenue northwest was refused yesterday by the Excise Board. Protest against issuing the license was made by E. A. Shoemaker, attorney for the Anti-Saloon League.

The membership committee of the Board of Trade met at noon yesterday in the rooms of the organization, Eleventh street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, and considered the admission of eleven new members. George H. McDonald, in charge, was expected that at the next meeting of the board the names will be enrolled.

The Board of Education has accepted the offer by the Daughters of 1812 of a gold medal for the pupil who writes the best essay on the war of 1812. No rules for the contest have been formulated yet. Assistant Superintendent of Public Schools Kramer announces that the prizes offered by the National Educational Association for the best essay on "Thrill" will soon be distributed.

The 4-year-old son of Detective J. R. Stringfellow, of 147 Randolph street, set fire yesterday to a lot of newspapers in his home. The fire damaged a door. There also was a blaze of unknown origin in the house of Walter L. Hazen, 212 F street northwest, which did $700 damage. Fire in a pigeon house, 14 Conduit road, destroyed a number of pigeons; damage $200.

The introduction of current history into the public schools is proving a successful innovation. Pupils each day are having a review of the important events now taking place, not only in the arena of Europe, but also in their own country. Especial attention is being drawn by the teachers to the recent war address of the President to Congress as a masterpiece not only of rhetoric, but also a document of historic importance.

WIFE'S SIGHT RESTORED; SPURNS LAME HUSBAND

(By the International News Service.) Moline, Ill., April 4.—Henry Bruns, hunchback, and his beautiful wife, are again today slain by the husband's hand. Bruns shot her and ended his own life when, her sight restored by an operation, she saw for the first time the deformed shape of the man she had married and shrank from him.

Bruns was a foundling in Chicago. He grew to manhood, a butt for the jokes of the thoughtless, and took to the open road. Near here he heard Gertrude Harkness singing and, although she had been blinded by scarlet fever, he wooed and won her.

With their savings he paid a specialist to operate upon her. Then they were married and left for the country for their honeymoon. The hour for removing the bandages came. The operation had been a success. Then as Bruns rushed to take his bride in his arms, she saw his body in all its hideousness, and pushed him from her in horror.

A few moments later both lay dead upon the floor.

H. C. OF L. NOW HITS LUXURIES OF KIDDIES

Penny Ice-Cream Cones "Going Up" Is Latest Threat.

Kidland is sore. And if you thing its abbreviated inhabitants haven't every reason to be hot around the collar figure yourself one of 'em again and let Old Man H. C. of L. pull the same stuff on you he's handing out to them in packages now.

The reason is simply that the price of penny ice cream cones is going up.

Yes, the same old cornucopia "Tony the Wop" used to pass over the apple and span oilcloth to you, your dad, and maybe his dad—who knows? You remember well enough how you used to think Christmas had come sure enough when you were the proud owner of one of these penny delights. And with what regal scorn you passed up young Jimmy Ryan for being untimely familiar when he used to holler "Nix on you."

Well, you had your fun, and now they are taking it out on your kiddies. Naturally, young Washington today doesn't know whether to take the river route or just turn its 42-centimeter tongue loose in honest-to-goodness revilement and contempt for whoever started this business.

Can you blame 'em?

RECRUITING GROWING AT MILITARY POSTS

Navy Station Expects to Gain Nation's First Place This Week.

Continued activity was reported at the several recruiting stations about the city yesterday with war with Germany becoming increasingly imminent.

The United States navy recruiting station at Ninth street and Pennsylvania avenue, which was instrumental in putting Washington second on the list for last week's enlistments, hung up a good record of ten actual enlistments yesterday, barring rejections and acceptances who have not returned to report yet. The complement at this station is working enthusiastically in a whirlwind campaign to get 200 more recruits. The detail is also hoping to put Washington at the head of the list for this week's enlistments, having third place to its credit week before last and second place last week.

Recruiting gained strong impetus at the army tent at Pennsylvania avenue and Seventh street yesterday, around a score of recruits showing up to report for duty. These are applications and will have to be further passed upon.

The enrollment office of the naval reserve announced yesterday that places for yeomen were all filled for the present, but that applications will be considered as vacancies occurred.

Troop B, "The President's Own," recruiting at headquarters, 1237 F street northwest, is nearing full war strength of 105 men.

Recruiting was brisk for the Third Regiment National Guard at the L street armory headquarters yesterday.

With initial drill on the campus at Catholic University Tuesday, a battalion of infantry is in information there. It will be recruited up to strength when students return from Easter vacation.

THIEVES HAVE BUSY NIGHT.

Four Business Places Entered and Small Hauls Made.

Lewis Harris complained that his shoe store at 721 Fourteenth street northwest was broken into, but nothing is missing.

William Boland reported his place at 815 F street northwest entered and a small amount of change taken from the cash register.

President Wilson and the entire general inaugural committee, headed by Col. Robert N. Harper, posed for their photographs yesterday in the south grounds of the White House. The President stood with Col. Harper, in the middle of the group, with the White House as a background.

The photograph will be used in the inaugural souvenir book which soon will be ready for distribution.

American Flag Burned

In Schoolhouse Stove

Annapolis, Md., March 4.—Desecration of the American flag in one of the public schoolhouses of Anne Arundel County has been reported to Prof. George Fox, superintendent of the Anne Arundel schools. The schoolhouse was broken into at a time when there were no sessions and the flag was placed in the stove. When sought the next morning to be raised on the flagstaff the banner could not be found. Later the charred rings to which the halyards were tied were found in the stove.

The affair occurred in the Arnolds neighborhood of the Third district, across the Severn River from Annapolis. It was reported to the school authorities by Miss Ruth Carter, of Annapolis, the teacher of the school.

Cincinnati Authority Tells How to Dry Up a Corn So It Lifts Out.

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of freestone applied directly on a tender, aching corn stops soreness at once and soon the corn loosens so it can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

A quarter of an ounce of freestone costs very little at any drug store, but is sufficient to take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to inflame or even irritate the surrounding tissue or skin.—Adv.
